

NEW ROAD SCALE
WITHIN A MONTHRailroad Board to Begin
Continuous Sessions on Monday

CHICAGO, May 3.—Within a month a new railroad wage scale, to take effect July 1, will be promulgated by the United States railroad labor board.

Next Monday the board will begin continuous executive sessions to decide upon and draft the new scale. The scale will be used on testimony presented in the lengthy general hearings which closed recently. It was predicted in a trustworthy source today that only slight reductions will be made by the board in the forthcoming scale as compared with the cut effective last July.

Increases asked by many of the labor organizations, particularly the shop crafts, are expected to be denied. Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, returned today from Washington, where he conferred with Attorney-General Daugherty concerning the case of the Pennsylvania railroad, which is seeking to restrain the board from making public an opinion.

"The government will stand solidly back of the board in this case," said Mr. Hooper.

The bandit entered her home last night and attacked La. W. Van Zandt, nationally known pianist, who makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Hauck when not engaged in concert tours.

Knocking the gun from the bandit's hand, Mrs. Hauck screamed for help and the intruder, throwing the chloroform at her, fled.

Mrs. Hauck weighs less than 100 pounds.

DELAY PICKFORD DECISION

Ruling on Demurrer Not Handed Down at Carson City as Expected.

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 3.—The decision of the state supreme court on the demurrer in the fight of Mary Pickford to prevent the annulment of her divorce from Owen Moore by the state of Nevada was not handed down today, as was expected. Instead, an order of resubmission was entered in the case, which means that the court has an additional 90 days in which to hand down its decision.

The attorney-general of Nevada sought annulment of the divorce on the ground that Miss Pickford, who later married Douglas Fairbanks, was not a bona fide resident of the state and that there was evidence of collusion with Moore through which service was obtained upon him within the state.

BLAMES AMERICA FOR DEPRESSION

Yale Man Says United States Should Have Entered League

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 3.—Responsibility for European depression is partially to be laid at America's door for her refusal to join the league of nations, Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, leading economist, said in an address here. France, Fisher declared, he said, because of America's refusal to enter the league.

Instability of money is responsible for depressed business conditions in England and France, Germany cannot pay the reparations demand at present. Professor Fisher thinks the reparations question, barred from the Genoa conference, is the principal problem around which all nations in Europe revolve and should be settled.

Besides her refusal to enter the league of nations, Professor Fisher declares, our attitude in expecting payment of the reparations debts, our deflation policy during the last two years and the threatened high tariff against European goods are mistakes.

IS MONKEY SPECIALIST

Miss Niece Has a Troupe of 40 Well Trained Animals With the C. A. Wortham Shows.

Miss Frieda Maria Niece, one of America's foremost animal trainers, now in Tulsa with the C. A. Wortham shows, specializes with monkeys, and has a troupe of 40 well trained animals here. Those who have attended the Niece circus, and have viewed the monkey show, have witnessed at the manner in which Miss Niece is able to handle these powerful animals, some of which are large enough and strong enough to tear her to pieces.

Miss Niece has made a study of monkeys, and while she is not entirely convinced as to the correctness of the Darwinian theory, it is easy to see that she believes there is a great deal of foundation for the belief that man can be traced back to monkeys. She also maintains that monkeys have a spoken language of their own. She can sit with her back to a lot of monkeys, and by the noise they make she can distinguish the mood they are in. She also says that the sounds they make for food, anger, curiosity, fear, and contentment are easily distinguishable to her.

Chif Wilson, who is manager of the show in which Miss Niece acts as "equestrian director," has a wonderful collection of well trained and valuable monkeys, one of his prizes at a table as a human being using knife, fork, plate and cup just as any mortal. Another monkey, a pipe, a bird removes his hat, coat and shoes and reclines on a miniature bed, while another jumps the loop in an automobile and still another jumps into his trainer's arms from a height of 45 feet high. There are many other monkey performances in this big tent and it has proven one of the most popular shows at the Niece circus this week.
